What is British Psychological Society (BPS) Level 1 Assistant Test User Qualification

Psychometric Assessment at Work Course · https://psyasia.com/kb/what-is-british-psychological-society-bps-level-1-assistant-test-user-qualification/

The British Psychological Society has established the BPS Level 1 qualification to cover the competent administration of psychometric tests in occupational settings. This qualification is for those who will be assisting to administer psychometric tests under the supervision of fully trained test users.

PsyAsia International offers training from a resident Doctor of Psychology with expertise in psychometric assessment in Asia. Our BPS Level 1 training runs in Singapore, Hong Kong and Malaysia on a public basis and in other parts of Asia as an in-house course. PsyAsia was the first company in Singapore, Hong Kong and Malaysia to offer regular public training leading to the previous BPS Certificates of Competence in Occupational Testing and now the BPS Register of Qualifications in Test Use (RQTU). Furthermore, We are the only vendor to offer the full course in an online learning centre with professionally recorded videos, meaning no matter which mode of learning you are on, you have access to every course presentation throughout your training.